

Ampersand

SubscribeMonthly ArchivesContact[Sudikoff Public
Forum](#)Q Search

ENGAGE

Veronica Barassi to Deliver Keynote for 5th Annual GSE&IS Research & Inquiry Conference

By Staff

This year's theme of "Reclaiming Expertise" explores hostility and skepticism towards academic knowledge, May 3 at UCLA Faculty Center.

MARCH 10, 2018

The Graduate School of Education & Information Studies (GSE&IS) is pleased to announce that Veronica Barassi will deliver the keynote address for the 5th Annual Inquiry & Research Conference (RIC) on May 3, at the UCLA Faculty Center. Her keynote draws from the Child | Data | Citizen project, which explores how childhood experience is being transformed by contemporary digital citizenship and by the persistent collection of personally-identifying digital data.

Barassi is a lecturer and anthropologist in the Department of Media and Communications at Goldsmiths, University of London. The Child | Data | Citizen project "bridges the concerns of both fields (education and information studies) about child development and education" in particular, "families' engagement with information technology," says Leah Lievrouw, professor in the UCLA Department of Information Studies.

The all-day Research & Inquiry Conference focuses on "Reclaiming Expertise: Facing Challenges to Knowledge, Authenticity, Expertise & Trust" in an environment of hostility and skepticism towards knowledge created by academic researchers and institutions. The conference seeks to examine this ongoing shift and responses to it within communities of knowledge and experience—from the academic to the artistic to the every day.

In its fifth year, the Research and Inquiry Conference builds community across GSE&IS and provides opportunity for student professional development. Students, faculty, and community members engage in dynamic conversations across divisions, sharing their own interpretations of work within the theme, while finding common ground across interests.

Throughout the day, UCLA graduate and undergraduate researchers and scholars will

GSE&IS in the News

Daniel Losen: GAO
Finds Racial Bias in School Discipline

Quoted by The New York
Times, April 4, 2018

Orlando Jones &
Christine Shen: Mann
UCLA Community
School Profiled

Featured on PBS's "Inside
California Schools"

Civil Rights
Project/Proyecto:
Derechos Civiles:
Segregation Persists
Despite Brown's
Victory

Featured in the Voice of America, March 27, 2018

Popular Posts

UCLA Tech +
Innovation Present a Conversation with Facebook's Ellen Silver

April 19, 2018

Black Male Institute:
10th Annual Think
Tank Looks at
"Intersections of Blackness"

April 25, 2018

Sarah T. Roberts
Named Carnegie
Fellow

April 25, 2018

Throughout the day, UCLA graduate and undergraduate researchers and scholars will present their work in poster presentations and participatory sessions reflecting diverse interests and experiences. Top presentations and sessions will be awarded cash prizes at the conclusion of the conference. Papers, session documentation, and posters will be published in the conference proceedings.

The Research & Inquiry Conference will be hosted at the UCLA Faculty Center, located at 480 Charles E Young Drive East, Los Angeles, CA 90095 on May 3, from 9 a.m.-7:00 p.m. followed by a wine and hors-d'oeuvres reception.

For more information and conference updates, please visit the conference website at or contact conference organizers at research.inquiry2018@gmail.com.

Press Contacts:

Emily Pressman & Dustin O'Hara

research.inquiry2018@gmail.com

Above: The GSE&IS Building, North Campus, UCLA

Tags: UCLA Department of Education, UCLA Department of Information Studies

UCLA Graduate School of Education & Information Studies

UCLA | Maps, Directions, Parking | Faculty & Staff Portal | Webmail | Directory | Contact Us | Terms of Use | Site Map

ENGAGE

